Amendments to the Abstract:

Please replace the Abstract with the following substitute Abstract.

ABSTRACT

A reconstruction method for reconstructing a first signal from a set of sampled values generated by sampling a second signal at a sub-Nyquist rate and at uniform intervals, the method includes retrieving from the set of sampled values a set of shifts and weights with which the first signal can be reconstructed.